"Excess Profits Tax Is Indirect Tax of the Most Insidious Kind."

By L. F. LOREE, New York State Chamber of Commerce.

The effect of excess profit taxes on business enterprises and on the high cost of living is so evident as to require little explanation. We have the word of former Secretary Glass that this tax encourages "wasteful expenditure, puts a premium on overcapitalization and a penalty on brains, energy and enterprise, discourages new ventures and confirms old ventures in their monopolies." What further need

It may be appropriate, however, to indicate the fact that as the commodity or raw material passes from the planter, or grower, or producer to the factor, and so on to the manufacturer, the jobber, the wholesaler and retailer, each process of dis-Lesson IX. How to develop individ- way and then the other. We're not 16½c; light, ordinary, 14@15; com- tribution witnesses an addition to the cost at each stage of progress, of an nediary to cover his excess profits tax and that all of these increases are included in the price paid by the consumer for the finished product.

These added costs have no legitimate relation to original cost. As an example of one of these costs, the head of an important manufacturing enterprise has recently stated that his corporation paid in one year t the federal government taxes in a sum more than double the nomina profits retained by the company, more than five times the sum distributed in dividends to the investors whose capital it utilized, and nearly two thirds the total amount distributed to the workers by way of wages, and

The excess profits tax is an indirect tax of the most insidious kind The laborer, the clerk, those dependent on small incomes from investment, and all whose earnings are less than the exemption allowed under the law, are not taxed under the law. Few of them realize that they are taxed at all. This entire class, however, as well as others with larger ncomes, pays a heavy toll each day for the necessities of life and would, if it realized the fact, be among the strongest advocates of excess profits

It follows naturally that to the extent excess profits are assessed, our xport tax is penalized. The products of the manufacturer and of the farmer cannot so readily be sold abroad in competition with those of othe countries if their prices are inflated under operation of an excess profit tax. Markets secured during the war are in danger of being lost to the American exporter through the effect of the excess profits taxes.

Prevent Decay of Teeth by Teaching Children to Keep Mouths Clean.

By DR. A. D. BLACK, Northwestern University Dental School.

Definite and practical plans for instructing children in the technical of caring for the teeth have been worked out during the last six years, particularly in Bridgeport, Conn., where twenty-six hygienists are engaged in the education of 20,000 children in the public and parochial schools in the problems of mouth hygiene. During the five years ending January, 1919, this service had reduced the number of retarded children (those who were required to take a year over) in the eight grades of the grammar

The cost of re-educating these children equaled 42 per cent of the entire budget in 1912, and was reduced to 17 per cent in 1918. During this same period and apparently as a result of this service, communicable diseases were wonderfully reduced. The figures for diphtheria were changed from 36 per cent to 18 per cent, for measles from 20 per cent to 4 per cent, for scarlet fever from 14.1 per cent to 0.5 per cent. There is good reason to believe that the establishment of this school of dental hygienists is the beginning of an educational campaign which will be farreaching in the improvement of the health of the nation. Teeth are preserved; healthier bodies and minds are developed; much of constitutional diseases is prevented. Could there be a finer public service?

Chicago has over 300,000 children in the grade schools. A few years go members of the Chicago Dental society examined the mouths of about 80,000 children and found fully 95 per cent in need of dental service. It is impracticable to supply dental service to adequately meet this demand. The record of the dental hygienists in the Bridgeport schools has, however pointed out a thoroughly practical solution which is a much more rationa method—that of preventing decay by teaching the children to keep their mouths clean. It seems so certain that this service will soon come to be a part of the training of the children in our public schools that the estabishment of a school for the training of women hygienists is likely to be an important factor in the furtherance of the general child welfare
